FATAL WRECK.

John Billups, formerly of Louisa, instantly killed.

About one o'clock last Saturday morning a collision on the B. O. & W. railroad occurred near Pleasant Plain, O., whereby John Billups, born and reared in this place, met an untimely death. He had been a brakeman on the road a good while, and by good conduct and attention to business had just been made a freight conductor. He had been ordered to Cincinnati to bring out a train, and was on his way from his home in Chillicothe to the former city, when the accident happened, which ended his life. He was sitting in a coach when the train he was on and a fast passenger train collided near Pleasant Plain, several coaches being among them, being thrown over an embankment and poor Billups was instantly killed.

The sad news was telegraphed to Louisa and the mournful intelligence was imparted as gently as possible to his widowed mother. On Sunday afternoon the body, accompanied by the widow, Mr. and Mrs. James Billups and George Billups arrived in the city, and on Monday morning, followed by a large number of relatives and friends, all that was mortal of John Billups was buried in Pine Hill Cemetery. Brief and appropriate religious services, conducted by Rev. Mr. Eliza, of the M. E. Church, assisted by Rev. O. F. Williams, of the M. E. Church South, had been held at the residence of Mrs. Nancy Billups.

John Billups was the youngest son of the late "Samp" and Mrs. Nancy Billups. He married Miss Dora Johnson, a most estimable young lady of Johnson county, and a member of one of its best families. A beautiful girl baby, about four months old, is the result of the union. The dead boy was doing well in his calling as a railroad man, sober and saving in his habits, and it seems hard that just when all looked so favorable he should be struck down. His aged mother and her family have the sympathy of all who know them.

Broke A Bone.

While the Rev. Sam Bettus, the cowboy preacher, was making a speech at Beckley, in the interests of the Democratic ticket he attacked Wm. R. Campbell, the Sheriff of Raleigh county, and accused him of high crimes and misdemeanors. The Sheriff was in the audience and, angered by the accusations, he approached the platform and threw the preacher to the floor and broke his collar bone.

An Aged Woman Dead.

On last Tuesday Mrs. Julia Evans, the venerable widow of Edwin Evans, died at the residence of her son Charles, near Potter. Mrs. Evans had been infirm on account of old age and its incidentills for a long time. She is survived by James, Charles and W. T. Evans, and leave numerous descendants. Misses Eddie and Jessie Ward, attended the funeral, which occurred Wednesday and which was conducted by the Rev. H. B. Hewlett.

Sam B. Peters, a prominent and well known young man of Bluefield, W. Va., and Mrs. Sadie Thornbury, were united in marriage in Catlettsburg Saturday morning. Miss Thornbury is one of the most beautiful young women of the Big Sandy valley, a daughter of Dr. Thornbury, of Danville, W. Va., and a cousin to L. B. Williams of Catlettsburg.

N. D. Bush, of Catlettsburg, is unfortunate in the matter of accidents. He was out of business several months because of a dislocated shoulder, sustained near Yatesville, and now he is laid up with a sprained ankle. He travels — for a hardware house, and is well known here.

The non-resident relatives who attended the funeral of John Billups were Mr. and Mrs. James Billups, George Billups, Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. W. Billups, Williamson; R. B. Billups, Washington; Mrs. Eliza, Garred and Miss Hazel Billups, Huntington; and Mrs. George McClellan, Gallup.

Scored A Triumph.

On last Friday at the Louisa Opera House a large and appreciative audience witnessed the debut of Miss Mae Stafford and Miss Kate Foose in song and reading. Nothing finer along these artistic lines has been presented to Louisa, and we feel proud when we remember that both the young ladies are natives of our own Big Sandy—one a Louisa girl, and the other, of whom we are also greatly "stuck up," a native of our neighbor, the county of Johnson. From the opening member of the program to the fitting finale the applause was strong and hearty. The audience was not inclined to "play favorites," as the race folks say it, but gave to each such a welcome as must have been warming to her heart. Miss Foose's splendid voice, with its wealth of sweetness and strength, was never heard to better advantage, and she and her auditors appreciate the value of the faultless piano accompaniment, played by Mrs. P. S. Bond.

Our people had been anxiously awaiting the public appearance of Miss Stafford. She had satisfactory evidence of her ability as a teacher of her art, and her public recital was ample proof of her ability. In her profession, her recital showed conclusively what native ability, careful training and intense application can do. Take that scene from The Sign of The Cross, for instance. Memory, dramatic comprehension and a good "stage presence" made it one of the young lady's best efforts.

Miss Stafford and Miss Foose have abundant natural attractions. Both were charmingly gowned, easy in manner, not a bit embarrassed, and as each appeared on the fern-decked stage she made a very attractive picture. The NEWS and the public congratulate them on the complete success achieved last Friday evening.

Services at M. E. Church South.

Regular services as follows: (We use central standard time.)

Prayer Meeting, each Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

Sabbath School, each Sabbath at 9 a. m.

Preaching each Sabbath at 10:30 a. m. and at 6:30 p. m.

You are cordially invited to attend all these services. Strangers in the town specially invited to worship with us. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good, for the Lord has spoken good concerning Israel."

Then and Now.

"Hello, Central!" was first heard in 1878. To-day the exchanges are numbered by the thousands, and the telephones by the million. Communication by the telephone was limited to a few thousand feet. Now, conversation can be carried on by persons 1,600 miles apart. Soon long-distance lines will span the continent; and oceanic telephony will be a common place of mercantile routine.

Gen. Alexander Mackenzie, Chief of Engineers, has reported to the Secretary of War and the amount which can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year in improving Big Sandy river and Levisa and Tug forks, West Virginia and Kentucky, is $264,300. He also recommends that $174,000 be appropriated for Kentucky river.

Hon. Carmi Thompson, of Ironton, Speaker of the Ohio Legislature, was elected Attorney General at the recent election. As was set forth somewhat at length in these columns some months ago Mr. Thompson was born on Mill creek, a few miles from Fort Gay, and dug coal in his youth. He is a cousin of Mrs. R. L. Vinson.

The road leading to Pine Hill cemetery has been thoroughly repaired, and put into better condition than it has been for several years. The work was done under the supervision of R. A. Stone, and the expense was paid by private subscription.

Charley Holbrook, wife and two pretty children, were in Louisa Monday, on their way to Lexington their new home. Charley, who is a popular shoe man, makes Lexington his home now because it offers superior facilities for his business.

ELECTION COMMENT.

Some Caustic and Some Otherwise—Both Sides Heard From.

THE SNOW.

The snow, the snow,
The beautiful snow,
Fell on and buried
That dear Kehoe.

You first, my dear Bennett,
Before you, my dear Kehoe,
I beg of you to accept the certificate
by dear Bennett.

As you will by dear Kehoe.

It was a snow storm of balloons.

From the mouth of Big Sandy to the junction of Stoner and Lusk-son the designated republicans carried everything before them. They were up early and voted often, so often in fact that it gives one a nticipated.

They weren't satisfied with a nice nose flint. They took the lead from the start and increased their advantage until they came under the wire in a jog with the democrats scattered from the head of the stretch to the half-mile pole.

The majority? Oh, well, it's a shame to tell it. We don't know anywhere from 900 to 1,000.

HARRISON COUNTY

Did not distinguish herself for loyalty and enthusiasm. Something over five hundred democrats failed to catch the voting fever. They didn't go to the polls or send proxies.

All the world
Is sad and dreary
To the friends
Of Jeems McCreary.

Haiger, with his
Well-aimed dart,
Stung Gen. Hayes
On his Bonaparte.

The democratic party can hardly survive another State primary.

Now let us turn to peaceful pursuits. Isn't this beautiful weather?

A temperance map recently published in the daily papers proves conclusively that Kentucky is rapidly drying up. We hope the politicians will dry up, too.

Now, that it is all over, those individuals who sought political advantage by dragging Mr. Kehoe's religious affiliations into the campaign can lay their narrow little minds to rest until the next election.—Cynthiana Dem.

A "yellow" young fellow named
Hearst,
Was quite unprepared for the worst,
So when it befell,
He cried sadly, "Oh, hell!"

And that's not the worst that he caused.

Cheers for the victor, tears for the vanquished. Sour, indeed, is the soul of the man who does not turn the moist eye of sympathy upon the candidate who expected to cut a melon, but merely caught a few.

Jim Kehoe is such a good hunker,
and such a clever fellow, withal,
that his friends just concluded to keep him at home—where they can borrow money from him.—Maysville Ledge.

In Mr. Kehoe's defeat for Congress,
the people of the Ninth district
are the real losers.—Maysville Bulletin.

Now John W. Lansey may not have been scared, but he certainly ran like a big cabin.

Sam Marvin, aged about 27 years,
died in Louisa Wednesday of typhoid fever. He had been absent from this place and came home sick. His death occurred about two weeks after. He was a son of Josiah Marvin, and was a quiet, industrious
young man.

Clint Ewing, a well known colored man, died in Fort Gay Monday of injuries received on the N. and W., a few weeks ago. He was sent home shortly after he was hurt, with a foot bad condition. Gangrene set in, followed by lockjaw, and death was the result.

Harold French and George Akers,
two young men who have been confined in the county jail at Ironton for several weeks past on charges of burglarizing a number of box cars, made their escape, Tuesday night. Akers was formerly from near Louisa.

McFarland-Wellman.

The attractive new home of Mr.
and Mrs. S. W. Helms on Merriweather avenue was the scene of halloween evening of one of the prettiest weddings of the season, uniting the lives of their niece, Dixie Wellman, and A. F. McFarland, the impressive ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church being said by the Rev. Mr. Griffin in the presence of a small circle of relatives. The bride made a charming picture in a gown of pearl gray silk and lace.

This marriage is a consummation of a romance of rare interest and was
a romance of rare interest, and was an entire surprise even to intimate friends. After the ceremony and a shower of good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. McFarland left by way of New Orleans and the Southwest to make their home in Los Angeles, Cal.—
Memphis Evening Scimitar.

Mrs. McFarland left Miss Dixie Wellman, daughter of L. H. and Minnie Goff Wellman. She visited Louisa in 1903 and made many friends. She is a granddaughter of the late Felix W.
Goff, and her relatives in this section are members by the score.

Popular in Louisa.

Miss Lena Stewart, of Kenova,
who recently went to Rialto, Cal.,
was married on last Monday to Mr.
George Woods, of that place, whom she met while visiting her aunt in Rialto several years ago. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stewart, of Kenova, and is a charming girl who has numerous friends in this city, where she was a frequent visitor of the family of her aunt, Mrs. Cynthia Stewart.

Mr. Woods is an orange grower and is quite well-to-do.

At Lock No. 1, Catlettsburg.

An accident happened at the Catlettsburg Lock last Saturday which miraculously resulted in only light injuries to the victim. Sherman Vanhorn of Adeline, Ky., one of the employees of the Baker Contract Co., was on the coffer dam and started to step off when one of the boards in the frame work gave away
and let Vanhorn fall down between the railings. Luckily only a few cuts and bruises, but nothing serious were the result and Vanhorn is back at work again.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method of thanking our many friends and neighbors for the kindness which they so willingly bestow on us in one of the saddest and most heart sore moments that ever befall our family. Words cannot express our gratitude and thanks to the people who lended us a loving heart and helping hand to the bereaved family during the illness and death of a dear husband and father, and we wish to offer our heartfelt thanks to one and all.

Mrs. James Nelson and family.

The steam shovel which is estimated to have cost $10,000 was brought to the lock on Monday evening, while assisting Mr. Osborn, Jr., deputy sheriff, in putting up
the booths for the primary. Mr.
Osborn's pistol fell from his pocket while shooting Mr. Hatcher in the left thigh. He was in great pain all night but was resting well at last reports from his bedside, and it is thought he is not seriously wounded.

ment of the Lord's Supper will be afternoon with Mrs. Robert Bickel.

Mrs. Bickel is a charming entertain-equal to the occasion.

Important News Gathered from Abroad for the Benefit of Our Readers.

Louisville, Ky., November 8.—As she slept early this morning, Mrs. Jennie Ely's skull was crushed with a hatchet and her throat severed from ear to ear. Sleeping beside her when the deed was committed were two of her six children—an infant, aged 9 months, and a son, Rudolph, 9 years old. Within a few feet of the victim was her daughter Anna, aged 15. In an adjoining room Mr. Ely, husband of the murdered woman, soundly slept.

Anna Ely was awakened by her mother making a gurgling sound. When she reached her mother's side Mrs. Ely was still alive and endeavoring to speak. Anna's screams aroused the household and even the neighbors ran in. Mrs. Ely lived only a few minutes. She was unable to speak.

Falmouth, Ky., Nov. 9.—George Newkirk, a young farmer living four miles from this place, is under arrest. It is charged that he shot and killed his aunt, Mary Coddington, a woman nearly seventy years old. She had accused Newkirk of stealing some of her turkeys a few days before, and he resenting the charge, went home, got his shotgun and walked by where his aunt lived. She was standing in her yard and he emptied the contents of both barrels into her body, killing her instantly.

He then came to town and gave himself up to the Sheriff, but says he knows nothing about the shooting.

Reports from the neighborhood said a mob was coming to town to hang him, but the officers hurried him to the Cynthiana jail.

The stand-patters in the House fared very badly as the result of the election. Chairman Payne's vote was greatly reduced in New York; Datzell, the second man on the committee, bid his majority cut down one-half; Grosvenor was defeated in convention, and will not be a member of the new committee; Watson, Curtis and Neasham come back with decreased majorities; Hulbeck was defeated, but that is not a victory for the tariff revisionists, as Hulbeck has been urging his party for the last five years to reduce some of the schedules. On the other hand, McCleary, of Minnesota, has been forced into retirement. He has been the mainstay of the stand-patters in the House, and during the last two campaigns his tariff speeches have been sent broadcast over the country by the Republican Committee. In addition, Cummins wins in Iowa and the stand-pat Congressmen are all reduced.

There will be three vacancies on the committee to be filled by the Speaker of the next Congress.

The Government Printing Office was not overlooked in the making of the late political campaign, furnishing over 5,000,000 copies. It is said, of congressional speeches for members of both branches of Congress. Work of this character is done at the expense of the party ordering the work and members of both parties have equal privileges, the amount being limited by the desire of the member.

A fact not generally known is that any private person may present a certified check for the amount of the cost, have printed for his individual use 250 copies of any Government publication, provided the order is given before the press work is completed.

The speeches in most demand are said to have been those on the meat inspection bill and the railroad rate legislation. Pure food agitation and the Philippine tariff came in for a good share of attention, while labor speeches were popular in manufacturing districts. One ex-Senator is said to have ordered 50,000 copies of one of his speeches in relation to labor.

The largest single order is understood to have been for 150,000 copies.

The report also said the number of attendants and nurses at the institution should be increased and the pay materially increased.

At Rowena, Russell county, Ky., one of the most peculiar cases known to the medical profession and has baffled the skilled physicians of America, says the Adair County News.

Mr. Herschel Grider, son of a prominent farmer, who lives at the mouth of Indian creek, near Rowena, has been asleep, or in an unconscious condition for twelve or thirteen years.

In conversation with Mr. John McFarland, a substantial citizen of Rowena, and a man whose word is his bond, Mr. Porter McFarland made the following statement concerning the case:

"I have known Herschel Grider since his childhood, and know that he has been in an unconscious condition, or a stupor, for over twelve years, and his father tells me that during this time consciousness has only returned twice, and then for only a few minutes. The family carry the unconscious man food at the regular hours and place it on a table at his side. If the attendant remains in the room it will not be disturbed, but upon leaving the room and returning in a few minutes the meal will have been consumed.

The man may be deposited in a chair or on the bed and will not move a muscle or change his position a hair's breadth. The cause is unknown, but about the time the misfortune occurred Herschel attempted to get off a blast — one made from a quart bottle of powder — the fuse becoming entangled around his feet, and when the explosion occurred was considerably shocked.

Four little girls, with their mother, were suffocated at a tenement house fire in New York.

Mr. Sterling, Ky., Nov. 11.—A strike of gold has been made at Wagerville, Estill county, and the people in that neighborhood are greatly excited. Quartz sent to the assay office at Cartersville, Ga., shows $20 to the ton. There have been other finds near Winston, which assay $3 to the ton. It is believed the find at Wagerville shows gold in paying quantities, and a company will be formed to investigate the territory and do mining. Hugh Riddell, an attorney of Irvine, says the field is gone, and there is much excitement over the owner's report.

The organization of a diamond mining company in Kentucky will come no surprise. There has always been plenty of "mineshafts" in that State—Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Eastern Kentucky a little scattered drilling is being conducted in Floyd county, mostly along Beaver creek. No wild-cat work is being done in that section. In Southeastern Kentucky the drill is idle, Knox and Whitley counties attracting little attention just now. The Standard Oil Company's drilling in Cumberland county has not yet resulted in anything of importance.

Conditions are unchanged in the Rowan and Lincoln counties.

On oil wells up here little work is being done.

Gas fields of Kentucky are attracting a great deal of attention. The Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, owners of the Menifee county gas field, will drill tests in Morgan county. In Southeastern Kentucky the firm of W. C. Kennedy & Co., has purchased several hundred acres of leases near Harrodsburg and a natural gas system is now being installed in that city. One well has already been drilled and others will be sunk. Gas mains are now being laid and the system will be in operation by January.

Five students of a Kentucky college have, it is said, been sent to the workhouse for indulging in riotous and unlawful Halloween pranks. The penalty so far as these individuals and precedent is concerned is undoubtedly excessive. But it is time that all students should be taught a stern lesson. They should be more rather than, as is customary, less law-abiding than others. A hoodlum is a hoodlum, even though he has been maltreated. Fun is not fun anywhere when it produces results that can't be told from malice-mischief.—Pittsburg Sun.

Louisville, Ky., November 9.—With three precincts in the state missing Judge S. W. Hager has been nominated for Governor over N. B. Hayes by a majority of 32,606.

Hager carried every district in the state except the Sixth and the Louisville (Fifth) District. The unaffected vote gave this district to Hayes by more than 1,000, but when it was found that Hayes had only carried it by a bare majority of 41 votes, Hayes only carried 20 counties out of 119 in the state.

Governor Beckman's majority over Senator McHenry will not be less than 650, and may go higher.

Reports from 45 manufacturers of ale and beer barrel stock show that 12,578,000 staves and 2,176,000 sets of headings were used during the year 1905. Of the beer barrels manufactured, the quarter - barrel size required 5,480,000 staves and ale barrels 123,000. Returns from different States indicate that Kentucky produced the largest quantities of both staves and headings, for which white oak is used exclusively.

Kentucky-Tennessee Oil Fields.

Special Cor. Manufacturer's Record

Barbourville, Ky., November 5, 1891. Although rather late in the season for the entrance of new capital, two or three new development concerns have lately been organized to operate in Kentucky's oil and gas fields.

A new territory will be entered in Western Kentucky by the Green River Oil and Development Co., of Morganfield, Ky. This concern, which has not been organized, will drill in sections of Butler county, which has already shown favorable indications of oil and gas. The company was incorporated last week with a capital stock of $50,000, and drilling will start at once. In Knox county W. C. Kennedy and Co., of Bradford, Pa., have purchased several hundred acres of gas territory near Barboursville, and will install a natural-gas system in this city. One well was already drilled on the property purchased, and other holes will be sunk. The system is now being put in. A test of the well already drilled shows a volume of 700,000 cubic feet and a pressure of 270 pounds, sufficient force to carry the gas 70 miles without artificial pressure. The W. C. Kennedy concern has interests valued at over $1,000,000, in upper Kentucky the Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co., will extend operations. This company has headquarters at Lexington. David Mulin, of Barboursville, has acquired the holdings of the Natural Oil and Development Co., of Chicago, and will drill new wells in Knox county.

Developments in the Kentucky-Tennessee field, after the dull season of the past two months, are assuming greater proportions. A number of new rigs have been put to work, following the opening of new pools, and better results are expected. One of the most important new openings was in Wolfe county, this State, a test well showing the famous green oil in large quantities. The strike, which has created great interest in upper Kentucky, was made by the Mountain Valley Oil Co., of Lexington. It is the first green-oil strike made in this State.

Results from other operations in Kentucky-Tennessee divisions were not up to those of the preceding months. Thirty-six wells were completed, including five dry holes. Most of the work was accomplished the latter part of the month. The production of oil slightly exceeded the 10,000-barrel mark.

The market for Kentucky-Tennessee oil is good, but prevailing prices are not satisfactory. The two grades of oil produced command $5 and 50 cents, respectively. These prices have prevailed for six months. At this season prices usually advance, but just now the indications are for a decline, due to the great overproduction of oil throughout the country.

The Standard Oil Co. controls all but a small part of the Kentucky-Tennessee production. In two divisions of Kentucky an independent concern, the Indiana Refining Co., of Georgetown, competes in the crude-oil market, paying 88 cents per barrel for the latter-grade oil. This concern is conducting a flourishing business.

Alaska Not Remote.

Alaska will read with more or less interest, and no doubt with wrath and indignation, the statement published by Tuesday's Post-Intelligencer that Alaska is an "out-of-the-way locality," and that on the occasion of the terrible Atherton's recent visit to that territory she undertook the "long and somewhat perilous voyage" to acquire local color for a forthcoming novel.

It has been a long time since anything quite so stupid and silly as the statements printed by the Post-Intelligencer has appeared in a newspaper that ought to know something of the vast and asthetic empire of the north. Everybody except the densely ignorant or the "venerably malicious" knows that Alaska is no longer remote, that it is not an "out-of-the-way locality," and that the journey to our northern possession is in no sense perilous. Indeed, one may visit Alaska with precisely the comfort that he may cross the Pacific to the Atlantic, so quickly have modern improvements and conveniences caught up with the requirements of that wonderful land.

We used to read a great deal about the "land of snow and ice" in those newspapers which were so far from Alaska that they could scarcely help throwing about that land the atmosphere of romance. Home papers are better informed. They know Alaska is a land of flowers. The Post-Intelligencer is without excuse in printing false statements, the effect of which would be to work injury to Alaska, provided one concedes that the Post-Intelligencer has any influence whatever.

Truth is, the cities and towns of Alaska are so far a head of places of double their population in "the States" that there can be no basis of comparison between them; and the vital point is, those cities and towns are no longer remote from

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle.

We sometimes treat strangers more politely and courteously than we do our own dear ones who give their lives for us. "Company owners, trade ware and linen" are perhaps not necessary all the time, but what is good for strangers is good for our "loved ones at home."

Sometimes one has more flowers piled on his coffin and grave than he ever had given to him in his life. We want our flowers while we are living. The dead are past till that. If we would do good let's do it while we are alive to those who are living.

A crust of bread, a pitcher of water, a log cabin and perfect love—there is happiness for you, whether the day be rainy or sunny. It is the heart that makes the home, whether the eye rests on a potato patch or flower garden. The heart makes home precious, and it is the only thing that can. Home is where the heart is.

The bitterest tears shed over graves are for words left unsaid and for deeds left undone. "She never knew that I loved her." "He never knew what he was to me." "I always meant to make more of our friendship." "I did not know what he was to me until he was gone." Such words are the poisoned arrows which cruel death shoots from the door of the sepulcher.

The lady who laughs heartily is a doctor without a diploma her face does more good in a sick room than a bushel of powders or a gallon of bitter draughts. People are always glad to see her. Their hands instinctively go half way out to meet her grasp while they turn involuntarily from the dampy touch of the dyspeptic, who speaks in the groaning key. She laughs at a lot of your faults, while you never dream of being offended with her; and you never know what a pleasant world you live in until she points out the sunny streaks on her pathway.

We need to remember that success in life is not success in material life alone, but in the social and religious as well. That a man is not a practical man who is a merchant, a farmer, a teacher merely; he must also be a citizen, a neighbor, a friend, a son, perhaps a brother, a husband, a father—and most important of all a little child in the garden of a Heavenly King.

The gentle grace of the mother lives in the daughter long after her head is pillow'd in the dust of death; and the fatherly kindness finds its echo in the nobility and courtesy of sons, who come to wear his mantle and to fill his places while on the other hand, from an unhappy misgoverned and dissolute home, go forth persons who shall make other homes miserable, and perpetuate the sorness and sadness the contentions, strife, and rullings, which have made their own earthly lives wretched and distorted.

HINTS FOR WIVES.

Perchance you think that our husband's disposition is much changed; that he is no longer the sweet-tempered ardent lover he used to be. This may be a mistake. Consider his struggles with the world—his everlasting race with the busy competition of trade. What is it that makes him so eager in the pursuit of gain—so energetic by day, so sleepless by night—but his love of home wife and children, and a dread that their respectability, according to the light in which he has conceived it, may be encroached upon by the strife of existence. This is the true secret of that silent curse which preys upon the hearts of many men; and true it is, that, when love is least apparent, it is nevertheless the active principle which animates the heart, though fears and disappointments make up a cloud which obscures the warmer element. As above the clouds there is a glorious sun-shine below are showers and gloom, so with the conduct of man behind the gloom of anxiety there is a bright fountain of high and noble feeling. Think of this in those moments when clouds seem to cover upon your marble peace, and by impatience, conduct so coldly, the gloom will pass away and warmth and brightness take its place.

The election of a United States Senator in Kentucky will be technically on constitutional lines, but only technically. Each member of the Legislature is responsible only to his constituency. Leastwise, that was the old-fashioned idea.

Feudist Foiled "Judge Lynch."

Topeka, Kan., October 4, 1906.—The recent death of Elias Hatfield, the noted feudist, closed for all time one of the many cases in which citizens of various communities have tried to take the law into their own hands and administer the Biblical injunction, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a life for a life." Once before in this notorious man's life he figured as the leading character in an attempt on the part of the citizens of Cabell county, W. Va., to rid themselves of his presence, but the affair ended abruptly without the accomplishment of the object.

Hatfield's neck was saved by the oversight of Sheriff W. O. Walton, of Cabell county, and the reputation of his prisoner as a desperate man was a case in which there were no batters - runs used, no angry looks from the mob flaunting the face of the prisoner, and no shots fired. Through the door of the jail the crowd glanced once within and immediately withdrew.

Immediately after the shooting of H. S. Ellis on June 1, 1899, Elias Hatfield, fearing the violence that he knew would break out on all sides, took to the mountains in Mingo county and remained in hiding until his voluntary surrender to Governor Atkinson a few weeks later. This took place in a second spot in the wilderness of the mountain regions, the Governor personally placing Hatfield under arrest. As a man the officials placed great confidence in Hatfield, and with a small escort, designed to attract as little attention as possible, he was hurried at once to the jail in Cabell county.

Although the incident took place within a few hours and Hatfield was safely landed in a strong county jail some miles from that in which lived the friends of the murdered man, became generally known in a few hours. Talk of mob violence at once arose, and a day or two later Sheriff Walton received an unsigned message saying that a "necktie" party would be held that night.

The Sheriff, however, was not a man to be influenced by the crude stories of the rougher element of Mingo county or any other county. There was little time left him for official action, although the militiamen had been hurried to the scene soon enough to prevent the capture of the prisoner. As a precaution, however, he secured two revolvers and a rifle and took them to a cell facing the main corridor of the jail. Then going to Hatfield's cell he fully explained the danger that threatened.

Hatfield took the matter quietly, but said he would like to have a chance for his life at least.

"You shall have it," the Sheriff told him as he unlocked his door and led him to the other cell. Then closing him inside he added: "We are soon to be in a tight place, Elias. You know these people, and unless I am mistaken they know you. Therefore I am giving you what I think best in my power, the chance you want. In return I want your word that not a shot shall be fired unless it is absolutely necessary." And the word was given.

That evening there was an uneasiness about the town, no unusual, in fact, that it was a bit ominous. And one could easily have seen that men were gathering in a large crowd at a point several blocks away from the jail, with a determination about their movements that was an indication of something about to happen. In the jail one guard sat near Hatfield's cell and quietly talked with its occupant, while Sheriff Walton sat in his office half reading, half expectant and ready to act on the slightest provocation. Eight o'clock came and went with no signs of trouble. They had almost begun to thing the affair had been abandoned when the stillness was broken by the sound of many feet and the hoarse murmur of粗鲁 voices outside.

A loud knock brought Sheriff Walton to his feet. "Who is it?" he asked, slowly unlocking the door of the main corridor. "What do you want?"

"We represent the citizens of Mingo and Cabell counties, sir," came the reply. "We want that prisoner."

The Sheriff smiled at the angry faces before him. "I hope, gentlemen, you will fully appreciate the situation before you make any attempt to kiss him. I believe you understand what I have done. This is a hard, but I doubt if any man can reach the prisoners under the present circumstances."

He looked and passed on, and in a few minutes the mob had disappeared. No one in that crowd was willing to face the steady hand and sure aim of Elias Hatfield.

TOWN LOTS IN LOUISA.

The most desirable residence town in the State. Gas, Water and sewerage within easy reach. Only ten lots left. You'll have to hurry if you want any of them.

$150, payable $20 down and $10 per month. Or $140 spot Cash.

The lots are centrally located and "dirt cheap" at the prices. Apply at once and get choice.

Louisville is improving rapidly and property will certainly continue to increase in value right along. Now is the time to buy. Demand for houses is much greater than the supply. Rent houses built on these lots would pay big returns on the investment.

Kentucky Normal College is bringing many people to Louisville. Next year will see a large increase in population. Louisville has a location of great natural advantage. It is healthy and moral, has access to two railroads and slackwater navigation, natural gas, water works, and all modern facilities. Its citizens have awakened to the advantages possessed by the town and are going after desirable enterprises. This means growth and development. Prices of real estate will gradually rise under such conditions. Now is the time to buy.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

The second edition of the Carter
Circuit Court convened at Olive Hill Wednesday, with a very large crowd in attendance.

Owingsville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Cleveland Pergam, charged with murdering Thomas Jones ten days ago,
was held without bail, after an extending trial here.

Elmer Fred or Ed Porter, of Grayson, ran a nail in his foot and is badly crippled. These boys are twins and it is beyond our comprehension
to correctly distinguish them.

Lee Cyrus, who was shot at Round Bottom ten or twelve days ago, by John Large and who was in a dangerous condition for several days, is now improving and it is thought he will get well.

Grayson, Ky., November 8.—John Tackett, of Willard, was lodged in jail here today charged with the killing of John Hinchliff with a shotgun. Tackett was quarreling with another man, and claims his gun
was accidentally discharged, the load blowing John Rinehart, a bystander.

Fifteen men employed in the construction of a coffer dam below the lock at the foot of Webster street in Callensburg, went on a strike at noon to-day, for an increase in pay and the use of rubber boots while at work.

The men have been receiving $1.75
per day and their demand is $2.00
with rubber boots furnished.

Superintendent Courly says the demand of the men will not be granted, but that an effort will be made to fill their places with other workmen.

Graham College has entered the third month of the present session with probably the brightest prospect in its history. J. B. McClure, the Principal, has more than proved his ability as a school man. Having stuck to the college through some of the most trying times in its history
he has tried it over financial difficulties, and has now ably succeeded in placing it on a paying basis, something which can be said
of very few schools of this kind.

The college buildings and grounds
are soon to be put to sale, and it is to be hoped that the purchasers
will properly recognize Pro McClure for the manner in which he has held the school together — Graham, Va.

FALLSBURG.

No thing unusual occurred here
lately, except that Zackary Webb's house caught the one day last week
and came very near being destroyed.
Mr. Webb and his neighbors threw water quick and fast and the house was saved.

We had a very peaceable election
here and I don't think there was any whisky used at this election to influence voters.

Mrs. Webb returned home last Thursday from East Liverpool, after having been gone several days to see her daughter, who has been sick
for sometime, but was about well
when Mrs. Webb left.

I stated not long ago that Elmer Large had bought a house and lot in Fallsburg, but I have since learned that he has sold it to John Large.

Elmer Large was calling at Green
Evans' Sunday.

THE IDEAL FAMILY LAXATIVE

is one that can be used by the entire family, young and old, weak and strong, without any danger of harmful effects. It should have properties which insure the same dose, always having the same effect, otherwise the quantity will have to be increased and finally lose its effect altogether. These properties can be found in that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills, because its ingredients are of the purest herbal extracts, and every pill is kept for three years before being sold, which allows them to mellow. We do not believe there is a laxative on the market that is so carefully made.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used. They have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either or plain or sugar-coated.

MEN PAST SIXTY IN DANGER

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease.

Mr. Rodney Burnett, of Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure, I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91
years old." Sold by Louisville Drug Co.

OVERDA.

We are sorry to say the sick of our community are no better.

James Campbell is very low with typhoid fever. Also, Thomas Adams has fever.

Dr. J. G. Young who has been sick is able to visit home folks in Greenup. We are sorry to lose him, as he is a good doctor.

A large crowd attended the ball game at Garfield Adams'.

Misses Emma and Hattie Young
went to Overda Sunday.

Aunt Sarah Kelley, who has been sick, we are glad to say is improving.

Quite a number of young folks
were visiting at Felix Adams' Sunday.

Elaine Young and Dutch Houch
were on our creek Sunday.

Mrs. American Adams is very sick.

Uncle Tom Young, who has been in bed for a week, is improving.
